(5) A preliminary order—

- (a) shall be binding on the parties but shall not be subject to enforcement by a court; and
- (b) does not constitute an award.

Provisions Applicable to Interim Measures and Preliminary Orders

Costs and damages.

7.—(1) The party requesting an interim measure or applying for a preliminary order shall be liable for any costs and damages caused by the measure or the order to any party if the arbitral tribunal later determines that, in the circumstances, the measure or the order should not have been granted.

Grounds for refusing recognition or enforcement.

9.—(1) Recognition or enforcement of an interim measure may be refused only—

 - (ii) any of the grounds set out in section 39(1) (b)(i) or (ii), apply to the recognition and enforcement of the interim measure.

MEMORANDUM OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration (“the Model Law”) was adopted by the United Nations Commission on International Trade Law (UNCITRAL) on 21 June, 1985, “in view of the desirability of uniformity of the law of arbitral procedures and the specific needs of international commercial arbitration practice”. The Model Law was amended by UNCITRAL on 7 July, 2006. The General Assembly, in its resolution 61/33 of 4 December, 2006, recommended “that all States give favourable consideration to the enactment of the revised articles of the UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration, or the revised UNCITRAL Model Law on International Commercial Arbitration, when they enact or revise their laws”.

The Model Law covers all stages of the arbitral process from the arbitration agreement to the recognition and enforcement of the arbitral award and reflects a worldwide consensus on the principles and important issues of international arbitration practice. Since its adoption by UNCITRAL, the Model Law has come to represent the accepted international legislative standard for a modern arbitration law and a significant number of jurisdictions have enacted arbitration legislation based on the Model Law.

Consequently, this Bill seeks to incorporate the Model Law into domestic law in order to facilitate domestic and international trade and commerce by encouraging the use of arbitration as a method of resolving disputes.

The Bill further seeks to repeal the Arbitration Act, 1900.

Minister of Justice.
